Custom Software Applications for Mobile Professionals

Whether you require a web-based solution, mobile or a wireless application, infotensity can build a custom software solution that runs on a PC, Notebook, Tablet PC, PDA or Smartphone. Empower your workers today with user friendly mobile solution applications for any portable device that are scalable, robust and cost effective.

From hardware, to wireless network and web-based software, infotensity integrates currently existing technology into a cohesive solution all delivered to the PDA or other mobile device.

A Team Focused on Creating Solutions

infotensity brings together unique talents to create a team focused on providing a business solution. Business and technology skills are combined to provide the customer with a solution that meets the needs of all stakeholders. Our emphasis is on the solution not on a particular technology or product.

The infotensity team includes experience in management consulting and software development in the health care, telecommunications and high-tech industries.
